the only action that can be taken is a civil suit as the government considers an animal as property and the drug company will use very expensive lawyers to defend against the suit.

you can either pop a standard lego-sized stick (the oar works great) into its mouth from the front, or it can grip it with its teeth from the side.